Fire damages ship's cargo

About 600 tons of water were pumped into a hold of the 13,345-ton Ellerman Line cargo ship City of York at East London, Cape Province, last night, to put out a fire.

Two hundred tons of the ship's cargo, consisting mainly of motor vehicles, lubricating oil, linseed oil, detergents and reels of cable, destined for Durban and east coast ports, were damaged by the fire and water, and had to be unloaded.

The City of York is expected to leave for Durban later today.
